

Ostend Is in Grip Of Zeppelin Fear

All Lights of the City Hidden at Night for Fear of the Mauretians of the Air Which Drop Bombs.
Thousands Watch Sky for Terrible Craft.

By WILLIAM G. SHEPHERD.

OSTEND, Belgium, by mail to New York.—The new fear is on Ostend. The streets are pitch dark, although it is early evening. Throughout the night there is the blink, blink, blink of signal lights and the tramp, tramp, tramp of soldiers' feet.

Stand out in the middle of the street. Look up at the stars in the blue, soft night sky and you'll understand what this new fear is. Stand out there with the hundreds of men, women, and children and watch the night sky with them and suddenly it will come to you like an awful shock—the Zeppelin chill. It's the newest human worry; the latest mode in terrors; the twentieth century blood-icer. And it is, as George Cohan might say, some worry.

I felt it first at 9 o'clock this evening when our boat from England drew up at the magnificent Ostend dock in total darkness. Men with lanterns lighted the way of passengers and porters.

We don't want anybody in the sky to see our lights, a marine explained. A whole city trying to hide itself from something that might be flitting about among the stars! The impossibility of a city doing such a thing struck me immediately.

The Zeppelins have been throwing bombs on Antwerp, sixty miles from here," continued the marine, "and sixty miles is only a little over an hour's run for a Zeppelin.

BAPTISM OF ZEPPELIN SHUDDERS.

Looked up at the stars. Was every one of them shining? Or were some of them hidden by the black bulk of the great Mauretians of the air? Not a hulk did I see and I shook my first touch, my baptism, of the Zeppelin shudders.

A three-block ride through the dark streets started it again. The houses were all dark, by military orders. But the Ostenders had not gone to bed. They were all, it seemed, in the streets looking upward. I looked up also and the Zeppelin chill hit me again. I suppose millions of credulous people looked at the great monster, four years ago, with something of the same feeling. But this feeling is stronger. We are all of us sure that there are comets that might hit us and bring the world to an end, but we do know in Ostend that there are Zeppelins and that they drop bombs which may kill our own particular world in an instant.

After I went about the dark streets, this once gayest shore resort of Europe, the palatial hotels were all dark. Passing a cafe in the main street I heard strange subdued sounds and suddenly discovered it was the massed whispering in the darkness of scores of men and women seated at the little side-walk tables under the cafe canopies. Word Whispered Everywhere.

I heard the word Zeppelin whispered at every hand. "The English have brought a dirigible here to fight the Zeppelins," whispered one voice, near by. "Yes," returned another whisper, "but the Zeppelins have gun decks on top of the gas bag, and carry two great rifles. What chance does an English balloon stand against one of Zeppelin's fighters fitted like a battleship?" While all this whispering was going on, I suddenly recalled how proudly we twentieth century folks had watched Zeppelin in his every move of conquering the air. But, after all, what has he done but added a new horror to warfare—a new chill for humanity. Little children and mothers will say their prayers in Ostend tonight and then be awake, for it's hard to believe that even the good God can save you at night. Passing a cafe in the main street I heard strange subdued sounds and suddenly discovered it was the massed whispering in the darkness of scores of men and women seated at the little side-walk tables under the cafe canopies. DRASTIC CUTS FOR
"PORK BAR'L" BILL

The Senate Committee on Commerce today extracted some of the "pork" from the river and harbor bill, but it left so many "pork" projects in it that the opposition has not been ended.

In making their reductions, members of the committee were as careful as possible to spare the projects of Senators. The reductions made in the bill include the cutting out of the Chesapeake and Delaware canal purchase, amounting to $2,500,000, as an appropriation for the Secretary of War is authorized to make a conditional contract if he can get satisfactory terms. The project of Columbia being main

Don't Miss Any of the Latest War News! Read It In the Sunday Evening Times Tomorrow

You cannot afford to miss a single development of the greatest conflict in the history of the world. The only way to keep in touch with the latest movements and progress of the war is to read The Sunday Evening Times tomorrow.

Be Sure to Order a Copy From Your Newsdealer Today

Attracted by the splendid sales of the Sunday evening issue of The Washington Times, New York and Philadelphia newspapers have begun issuing Sunday evening "extras" and shipping them to Washington. These New York and Philadelphia newspapers are printed hours before the Sunday edition of The Times and, although they bear the misnomer of "extra," they can be little more than reprints of the morning papers.

Do not be deceived by the call of "extra" in connection with the sale of these out-of-town papers

Today's War Summary

By JOHN EDWIN NEVIN.

ENGLAND—It is officially announced that the British pursuit of the retreating German right wing continues and that the Germans, badly exhausted, are losing many men captured, as well as guns and munitions of war. First Lord of the Admiralty Winston Churchill declares England will maintain at least 1,000,000 men in the field, and that there can be no peace until Germany is completely crushed.

FRANCE—The Germans are still being forced back all along the line. The French have captured enormous quantities of supplies, and taken thousands of prisoners. All of the artillery of a single army corps has been captured.

BELGIUM—King Albert has gone to the front in command of the Belgian forces, which have assumed the offensive against the Germans in northern Belgium. Ghent has been re-occupied by the Belgians, and the German troops which were threatening Antwerp have retired to the south.

RUSSIA—It is announced that the Austrian army of General Dankl has been cut off by the Russians who are continuing their successes in Galicia having assumed the offensive again with a largely increased army. The Austrians are reported to have suffered further heavy loss of both men and war materials.

GERMANY—The official war office announcement declares the Germans have assumed the offensive in East Prussia, and that the Russians are being driven back with heavy losses. It is stated that a force has been sent to raise the siege on Königsberg by the Russians.

SERBIA AND MONTENEGRO—Serbian troops have crossed the Danube, near Belgrade, to co-operate with the Serbian forces that occupied Semlin. The combined Serbian-Montenegrin armies are reported closing in on Serejeva capital of Bosnia.

GREECE—Reports from Rome say that Greece has given England a naval base within striking distance of the Turkish naval base and that the British Mediterranean fleet is near there ready, if Turkey enters the war, to crush the Turkish navy.

Legion of Honor Cross For 3 French Generals

BORDEAUX, Sept. 12.—It was announced today that Generals Manoury and Dubail have been decorated with the great cross of the Legion of Honor for heroic work in the field, and that General Foch has been made a grand officer of the legion for the same reason.

STORM PREVENTED PLANTING OF TREES

Owing to the storm which swept the city on July 20, 1913, there was a decided decrease in the number of young trees planted last year, according to the annual report of Trueman Latham, superintendent of trees and parks of the District, submitted to the Commissioners today.

The number of trees transplanted from the District nurseries to the streets was 2,387, a decrease of 234 in comparison with the record of the previous year. The number of trees removed during the year was 2,514.

The department intends to spray all trees in the early spring, to poison the food supply of insects before they make their appearance.

Mann "Buys a Bale."

The "buy-a-bale-of-cotton movement" started by business men of the South was endorsed by Republican Leader Mann yesterday, who, at the suggestion of Congressman Lever, of South Carolina, bought a bale for $50 and directed that it be held for him at Columbia, S. C., until the European emergency passes.
